

His Workmanship: Westside

"For we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works."

—Ephesians 2:10

Vol. XXIII

November 9, 2014

No. 45

Isaiah 64:8

The Legacy of Jesus, John 13-16: First of Ten, Proof of His Love,

All of us at one point or another have either received an inheritance or thought about receiving one. That's something very familiar to human experience. And although you may have not really thought about it, all of us, in some sense or another, have received legacies of some kind. If it isn't money, or some worthwhile object that is left to us, it is mementos of the lives of people who are very dear to us. My mother, for example, has things from her mother that are very precious to her that she was left by virtue of her mother's death. There are people whose children leave home, get married, and move away, and all of a sudden, all the little things that belonged to that child become especially meaningful. And all of us know what it is to have a legacy, to have something left to us. And that's precisely what was in the heart of Jesus in John 13-16.

His ministry among men was over in John 12. He then spent John 13-16 with His disciples. It all occurred in a few hours in one place, the upper room. It occurred the night before His crucifixion. Just before He died, He gave to the disciples, and consequently to all of us throughout history, His last will and testament. He said, "This is what I am leaving you." It is the Christian's Legacy. This is our inheritance in Christ. If somebody asks me, "What, as a Christian, do you possess that I don't have?" I say, "I possess everything Jesus gave in John 13-16."

Jesus didn't ask anything of His disciples, in particular. Oh, there were a few exhortations scattered thinly in the conversation. But basically, the flow was, "Here is what I am leaving you. Here is what I offer you. Here is what I give you." This, in turn, is what we can offer to people who don't yet know Christ, and say, "Here is a good reason to come to Christ. Hear, listen to His legacy." These are my most treasured possessions—in this whole world, if I really think seriously about it and think about what is worthwhile in my life, I would have to say that the most precious things I possess in this world are recorded here in this passage—all these things that belong to me, because of Jesus's gifts to me. I don't own anything materially that means anything to me. The things Jesus gave me in this passage mean everything to me—and to you, as well.

Jesus was about to die. He had announced His death to them in several different ways, particularly in Jn 12:24, when He talked about the seed falling into the ground and dying and bringing forth fruit. In John 11, He said He was going to die: "I must go to Jerusalem." There had been several occasions when He dropped that truth on them. But here He really nailed it down. "...Jesus said, 'Now is the Son of Man glorified, and God is glorified in Him. If God be glorified in Him, God shall also glorify Him in Himself, and shall soon glorify Him." John 13:31. He was saying, "Now is the time," and He meant His death, resurrection, and return to the Father. Later that night He said, "Father, I have glorified You on earth. Now glorify Me with You with the glory I had before the world began," Jn 17:4-5. The great apex of glorifying God occurred at the cross, the resurrection, and the ascension. Jesus was saying, "It is now time for that."

"Little children, yet a little while I am with you," 13:33. I won't be here long, and "you shall seek Me and as I said unto the Jews, 'Where I go you cannot come,' so now I say to you." Now, what do you imagine was the reaction of the disciples? For three years, all they had had known was the presence of Jesus Christ. For three years, He had been everything in their world. When they needed their taxes paid, He got a fish and took their taxes out of its mouth. When they needed food, He created it. When they needed truth, He taught it. When they needed comfort, He gave it. When they needed rebuke, they got it. They had known nothing but the supply, and the sustenance, and the presence of Jesus, the manna from heaven, Jn 6:31-35, and they had leaned on Him so hard that it was as if they would hit the floor if He moved. "What are we going to do? You can't mean this." Peter on

continued on p. 2

“As the Father loved Me, I also have loved you; abide in My love,” John 15:9

one occasion even said, “Lord, it’ll never happen. Let it not be,” Mt 16:22.

How did they respond here in the upper room? “Simon Peter said to Him, ‘Lord, where are You going?’ Jesus said, ‘Where I go you cannot follow Me,’” 13:36. Peter didn’t really want to know where He was going; he wanted to know how he could get there. So Jesus did not answer the question he asked; He answered the question He knew was in his mind. You can’t come, Peter, but you will later. “Peter said, ‘Lord, why can’t I come?’” 13:37. He sounded like a kid. “What do you mean I can’t come? I’ll die for You. If You’re going to die and go, then I’ll die and go with You.” He could not conceive of existence apart from Jesus Christ. To him, it wouldn’t even be living. Jesus said, “Stop letting your heart be troubled,” 14:1. When He announced that He was leaving, they fell apart. So He said, “Stop. Stop letting your heart be troubled.” “Thomas said unto Him, ‘Lord, we know not where You go; and we don’t know the way,’” 14:5. You’re going to leave us, and we don’t know how to get where You’re going to be. Later He said, “Stop letting your heart be troubled. Neither let it be afraid,” 14:27. They were in tremendous anxiety and fear. Jesus was everything to them. His very presence was their security, and they were troubled, they were afraid.

They were dominated by fear and sorrow. “But now I go away to Him who sent Me, and none of you asks Me, ‘Where are You going?’ But because I have said these things to you, sorrow has filled your heart,” 16:5-6. Nobody really asked where He was going; they just asked the way to get there. So Jesus said, “Your attitude is one of sorrow. It has filled your heart.” Filled means dominated. They were crying; they were sobbing on the inside. They could never conceive of a life without Christ. There was no way they could relate to that. You think you’re heartbroken when you lose a loved one?

You couldn’t even begin to conceive of what it would be like to live in the presence of the spotless, sinless, perfect Son of God, with all of His unbelievable love and sympathy and perfection in every single possible human relationship, and then to understand that He would be gone, and you didn’t know where He’d be or how to get there. So they were afraid.

Jesus, rather than being concerned with His own death, which was coming in a matter of hours, always exhibiting perfect sympathy, was far more concerned with them than He was with Himself. So He spent John 13-16 to tell them what He was going to leave them. “I know I’m going, but this is what I want to leave you.” His point was, “It’s better for Me to go, because if I don’t go, you can’t have these things.” The idea is that when He finished all His work on the cross and then arose, they would say, “Lord, we understand. It’s best for You to go.”

So what did He leave them? What did Jesus leave as a legacy to His disciples and to all those who trust Him? We can find ten legacies here.

1. proof of His love. The first thing we learn as kids going to Bible class is “Jesus loves me, this I know, for the Bible tells me so.” Often the first verse we ever learn is, “God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son,” Jn 3:16. That is the basic message—but if He had said “I love you” for three years, and then He said, “I’m leaving,” I might say to myself, “If He loves me, how can He leave me?”

It would be like falling in love with somebody, and your love for that person was absolutely the perfect love. But then one day that person said, “I love you truly. I love you absolutely. I love you with no reservations. But I’ve got to go. I’m leaving, and I’ll never see you again.” That would be hard to handle. That’s essentially what happened. The disciples could have said, “Did He really love us?” Jesus wanted to make sure they knew He loved them, so He gave proof of his love. Look at John 13. Beautiful. If I had been an apostle, whenever anything would come into my mind to question whether Jesus loves me—and I have that question, because I’m not the most lovable person—I would immediately go right back to John 13 to this great truth: “Now before the feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that His hour had come that He should depart from this world to the Father, having loved His own who were in the world, He loved them to the end... Jesus, knowing that the Father had given all things into His hands, and that He had come from God and was going to God, rose from supper and laid aside His garments, took a towel and girded Himself,” 13:1-4. Now, get the picture. The disciples were all eating, because they were in a hurry and because they were arguing about who was going to be the greatest in the kingdom. Because of that argument, and the absence of a servant who normally would do this, nobody bothered to wash their feet—and of course, that provided the perfect opportunity for the Lord. He took off His outer garment, put a towel around His waist and washed their feet. And, of course, when He came to Peter, Peter said, “Lord, are You going to wash my feet? I can’t conceive of this. You’re God. What are You doing?” And Jesus said, “What I do, you do not know, but you will know after this,” 13:6-7. What He meant was, “You don’t understand the total act of humiliation. You don’t understand what I’m trying to show you. What I’m trying to show you is that I love you, Peter. And it’s partly now, and it’s going to be partly in a little while, that you’re going to know it. You’re going to know it now from My foot washing, and you’re going to know it a little later from My death. You’re going to know I love you.”

Peter said, “You will never wash my feet. I won’t allow it.” Jesus said, “If I don’t wash you, you’re not going to have any part with Me.” Peter said, “Lord, not my feet only, but my hands and my head.” Give me a bath, Lord, in those conditions, 13:8-9. Then Jesus said, “You call Me Master and Lord, men. You say well, for I am. And if I am your Lord and Master, and have washed your feet, you sure ought to wash one another’s feet. For I gave you an example that you should do as I have done to you. Verily, verily I say to you, the servant is not greater than the lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him. If you know these things, blessed/

continued on p. 3

Let your faith be seen in 2014
 “I rejoice to see your good order and the steadfastness of your faith in Christ.” —Colossians 2:5

Legacy of Jesus, from p. 2
happy are you if you do them,” 13:13-17. Jesus was saying, “I give you a pattern. I give you a model, an example of love. I washed your feet.”

In 13:34 Jesus went back to the idea of the foot washing: “A new commandment I give unto you: that you love one another; as I have loved you, that you also love one another.” Notice that Jesus was saying, in effect, “You say, ‘How did You love us? By doing what? Washing your feet.’” You see, v. 1, He loved them to perfection. He loved them to the limit. That’s fine for Him to feel, but how did He demonstrate it? He demonstrated it by washing their feet, and then He said, “See, that’s how I showed My love to you. That’s how I expect you to show your love to each other, by humble service; by stooping to the place of meekness. I love you.”

If Jesus were here, He would have no greater joy than to wash your feet. But I would be like Peter. If the Lord came around and started to wash my feet, I would say, “Lord, get up. This will never do.” But, you see, He was saying, “I love you,” and He had to do more than say it to convince these men with the broken hearts. So he proved it by doing something that was truly an act of love. The beautiful thing is that woven into John 13 is the backdrop of Judas’s betrayal—and He even loved him. He even washed his feet. He loves us. But there’s more. The proof of love, given this last night, didn’t just end there. He went back to the same theme again. Remember, this was all in a matter of a few hours on the same evening, so the whole conversation just weaves itself back and forth. “These things have I spoken unto you that my joy might remain in you and that your joy might be full.” Now listen: “This is My commandment, that you love one another, as I have loved you,” Jn 15:11-12. Then He took it a step further, saying: “Greater love has no one than this, than to lay down his life for his friends,” 15:13. And then He made the key statement: “And you are My friends,” 15:14. Remember what Jesus said in John 13? He said to Peter, “Now, Peter, I’m doing this now, and you’ll understand more later.” Jesus was saying, “I love you, Peter. Let Me show it, will you, by washing your feet, and then later I’ll show it by laying down My life for you.” “Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.” He wanted them to have a model, a pattern. So He said, “Will you think about this when you see Me on the cross? That is Me loving you.” It isn’t just a lesson, you see. It isn’t just a sermon. It’s proof. “God demonstrated, proved His love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us,” Rm 5:8.

Discipleship Here At Home

I don’t question the love of Jesus for me. I could question it; under certain conditions, I could say, “I’m not the most lovable person. I am certainly not the most obedient person. I fail. I’m unfaithful. There is sin in my life at times. I don’t always do the things I want to do. I usually want to do the right things, but I don’t always fulfill them. And if it was the fact that You loved me on the basis of what I am, I’d be in a lot of trouble.” But if I questioned whether He loved me or not, I would go back to this particular passage, and I would say, “But, Lord, if You were here, You’d wash my feet, and You surely did die for me.” Those two acts have got to the greatest acts of love—condescending meekness and death. What did Jesus leave us? What is part of His legacy? One fantastic thing that begins it all: He left us the proof of His love. And we can go through our whole lives knowing that Jesus Christ loves us. That’s exciting!
Next week: The second legacy Jesus gave us is the hope of heaven.

elders'-deacons' meeting this afternoon following pm service

PRAY FOR healing, protection, help, and comfort here and away

Jennifer Clayton, former member—severe lyme disease; heart, spine, neuro issues; in CA
Monica Thompson—cold
Chad Meyers of Smoky Hill—acute renal failure
Brittany Tope's mother—breast cancer back; grandmother—on dialysis
Hadderses' nephew Zeke—broken femur in KY
Christine Adams—recovering from ankle surgery with 14 pins & plate; homebound till Dec; see Judy Sartin to co-ordinate meals
Virginia Menard—ankle injury; knee pain
Eric Perry—intensive dental work for awhile
Sylvia Chapman, Brett's grandmother—third stage pancreatic cancer; chemo
Giles Free—seizure from fall; confined at home
Ed Fink—prostate cancer; current treatment for brain tumors. Undergoing chemo this month
Judy Sartin's son, Dave Sartin—colitis and severe depression; needs new job; Judy's friend, Vicky Keys, to begin radiation after mastectomy
 Remember Sandra Hampton and Elaine Isbell, who have returned to Christ and need our prayers and help for strength to walk with God. Berney Charo's friend in Neb, Paul Alfaro also recently returned to the Lord and needs prayers for strength

CHRONIC CONDITIONS

Logan Corray; Addison Tope; Christian Harrod; Rocco Jr; Pat Wilkes, Tim Huelsman—asthma
Bill Dennis—adjusting pacemaker and meds
Nell Free—pacemaker, heart; back pain
Autumn Hadders—epilepsy; celiac disease
Jonathan Hadders—rheumatoid arthritis
Danielle Huelsman—vertigo, CV syndrome
Hannah Huelsman—polycythemia, thickening of blood; heart murmur, acid reflux, chest pain
Kirk Johnson—MS
Menards—aging; Lloyd, diabetes, weak; Virginia, macular degeneration; high BP
Sandra Perry—neuropathy from diabetes
Cheryl Reames—diverticulitis; fibromyalgia
Judy Sartin—spinal stenosis; arthritis
Judy and Mike Strand—hepatitis trtment
Lynda Szymanski—COPD, lung weakness
Rejoice Michael Fryman and Michelle Franke have chosen to work and worship with the West-side church. Contact info:
mfryman@mymail.mines.edu 859-954-0499
mfranke@mymail.mines.edu 719-685-6987
Mina Gonzalez is the proud grandmother (6th) of Raiden Kermit Gonzalez. 7 lb 9 oz, bom 11/6/14

Exposing current thoughts & trends

Five Things the Election Taught Us, by Jim Daly

We can learn five lessons from this year's campaign:

- 1. The Pendulum Is Certain. If politics during the last few election cycles has taught us anything, it's that the pendulum tends to shift back and forth, so it's unwise to put all our faith in politicians. "Some trust in horses and chariots but we trust in the Lord our God," Ps 20:7. Public policy involvement through voting is part of our responsibility as Christians and even an act of love for our neighbor. (It's part of Jesus' command to love our neighbor. God created the institution of government to restrain evil and encourage human flourishing, Rm 13. So as citizens blessed to live in a representative republic like ours, we have an obligation to work toward the best government we can possibly have, for the benefit of all our neighbors.) But we must do it all from that perspective that our trust isn't in the process, but in our Lord.
- 2. The Process Is Difficult. The pundits and commentators frequently talked about "hard-won" battles. Elections are won when people get involved and talk about the issues with their neighbors, explain why voting is important, volunteer, serve, and vote. It isn't easy or convenient. It can take its toll on us. But it's important. Some people work at great personal sacrifice. We applaud and thank them.
- 3. Our Values Are Not Always Mainstream. Although most Americans still generally support traditional one-man, one-woman marriage, the sanctity of life, and religious freedom, many intellectual elites will often scoff at such ideals. It might not be popular to talk about traditional marriage, but in the coming days, standing up for these types of Biblical principles will require a spirit of winsome boldness.
- 4. Politics Is a Battle for the Mind and Heart. Just like we would never browbeat someone into loving us or push someone into a relationship with Jesus Christ, the candidates who tend to do best are the ones who try to win our hearts as well as our minds. They don't simply bury us in facts; they tell us a compelling story and we're drawn to them on a personal level. This is exactly how we're to engage others. If winning the right-to-life argument was merely a matter of the facts, we would have won decades ago. The facts align with a Biblical worldview. It's up to us to win the argument by winning over a person's heart.
- 5. In the End, All is Well. But We Still Have a Lot of Work to Do! Elections matter because: 1) they involve people—people whom God loves, and 2) they can have serious consequences. But we need not fret or fear like people without the hope of eternity. That said, we're not to be blasé either. We were not put on this earth to mark time, but instead to be salt and light, Mt 5:13-16. As such, we have the luxury of living with a godly confidence, Is 30:15. We can't lose!

meets at
13789 W. 8th Avenue
Golden, Colorado 80401
720-295-4530

Pastors

Larry Campbell (303) 246-8810
DeWayne Howell (303) 973-7283

Preacher

Jim Reingrover (303) 973-5102

info@thechurchingolden.com

Assembly Schedule

Sunday

Bible classes	9:00 am
Morning assembly	10:00 am
Afternoon assembly	1:30 pm

Wednesday

Bible classes	7:30 pm
---------------	---------

Sunday morning

- adult Bible class, Lesson 5, "A Child of God: the Disciple's Security," Kenny Boyd

- Sermon, "Why Should One Believe the Bible?" Jim Reingrover

Sunday afternoon

- Lord's Supper, "Living Like Christ" lesson, Jeff Wilkes

Wednesday night: Studies from Ezekiel.

Get materials for both Sunday and Wednesday adult classes from website under "Member Files."